The String Game: "Zyzzzyva"

A ZYZZYVA is a type of weevil or snouted beetle discovered in 1922 (ZYZZYVA) in BRAZIL, by far the world's largest producer of COFFEE, the grounds of which can be used for composting or as mulch for acid-loving plants such as BLUEBERRIES which in French are called BLEUETS, spelled with an

EU (European Union) rather than UE (Universal English?), though there are some non-French words that contain "eu" like one common tree name from the Greek eu- "well" & kaluptos "covered" ..EUCALYPTUS, which happens to be a major food source for some SNOUTED BEETLES also known as ZYZZYVAS!
